"The crucifix is the Book of books & to me the Tree of Life & contains never ending volumes." (June, 1880)

"It makes me tremble with terror at the dread punishments He has in store for all who shall hinder, or try to hinder the furtherance of this heavenly devotion, for their jaws He says shall be locked as were those of the lions in the den into which Daniel was cast, they shall be shattered & become as naught." (May 9, 1880)

The Sacred Head is the shrine of the powers of the Soul. "The Head is also the center of all the senses of the body, & that this devotion is the completion, not only of the devotion of the Sacred Heart, but the crowning & perfection of all devotions; & He showed me how the adorable Trinity at His baptism revealed to the world this special devotion for His Sacred Humanity is the tabernacle of the thrice Holy Trinity; & that St. John has specially spoken of this devotion for the Most High revealed to him that He should be thus worshipped before the end of the world."
(April 9, 1880)
